

course objectives

This conference is designed to help you:

1. Discuss the current status of dementia research and the role of both biomarkers and neuropsychological assessment in diagnoses.
2. Discuss the legal parameters of the use of antipsychotic medications to treat behavioral symptoms due to dementia.
3. Discuss, compare and contrast the usefulness of antipsychotic medication juxtaposed against the overuse of antipsychotic medication.
4. Identify evidence-based strategies to enhance quality of life in persons with neurocognitive disorders.
5. Identify practical approaches to stress management techniques known to alleviate physical and psychological symptoms of stress due to caregiving.
